Burman University is proud to shine the spotlight on one of its most remarkable leaders: Elena Quiyono Kolokolova, the current president of the Burman University Student Association (BUSA). Elena's journey is one of resilience, compassion, and vision—qualities that have made her a beacon of inspiration for both local and international students.

A Global Journey, A Canadian Home

Originally from Mexico, Elena is the only child of her parents, who now reside in St. John's, Newfoundland. Though her roots are deeply tied to her Mexican heritage, Elena has embraced Canada as her second home, finding belonging and purpose within the Burman University community. Her story reflects the courage and adaptability of international students who balance cultural identity with new opportunities abroad.

Academic Excellence

Elena is in her final year of the Business Management program, where she has consistently demonstrated not only academic dedication but also strategic thinking. Her studies have equipped her with the tools to lead effectively, but it is her natural empathy and people-first approach that truly set her apart. She embodies the principle that leadership is not just about making decisions—it is about making a difference.

Creativity Beyond Leadership

When Elena is not advocating for students or representing their voices, she finds joy in the arts. She loves drawing, reading, playing the flute, and dabbling in photography.

These creative outlets reflect her multifaceted personality and remind us that great leaders are often those who nurture imagination alongside responsibility.

Leadership with Heart

Elena leads not only with her head but with her heart. She is known for her compassion, care, and unwavering commitment to supporting worthy causes. Her excellent people skills and strategic planning abilities have allowed her to rally students together, ensuring that every voice is heard and valued. As a team leader, she respects and celebrates the contributions of her peers, fostering a culture of collaboration and trust.

A Champion for Students

As BUSA president, Elena has become a strong advocate for student representation. She has worked tirelessly to ensure that international students feel included, supported, and celebrated within the Burman University community. Her leadership is a testament to the power of empathy in action—she does not simply serve; she uplifts.

A Legacy of Pride

Elena's achievements resonate far beyond campus. She is a source of pride for Burman University and for the international student population at large. Her journey reminds us that leadership is not defined by titles but by the impact one leaves on others. Elena's story is one of courage, creativity, and compassion—a story that inspires.
